

tissue segmentation and classification pdf

Image segmentation is one of the most important tasks in medical image analysis and is often the first and the most critical step in many clinical applications. In brain MRI analysis, image segmentation is commonly used for measuring and visualizing the brain's anatomical structures, for analyzing brain changes, for delineating pathological ...

Computational and Mathematical Methods in Medicine - Hindawi

In computer vision, image segmentation is the process of partitioning a digital image into multiple segments (sets of pixels, also known as super-pixels).

Deep learning algorithms, in particular convolutional networks, have rapidly become a methodology of choice for analyzing medical images. This paper reviews the major deep learning concepts pertinent to medical image analysis and summarizes over 300 contributions to the field, most of which appeared in the last year.

A survey on deep learning in medical image analysis

1. Introduction. Segmentation and the subsequent quantitative assessment of lesions in medical images provide valuable information for the analysis of neuropathologies and are important for planning of treatment strategies, monitoring of disease progression and prediction of patient outcome.

This blog posts explains how to train a deep learning Invasive Ductal Carcinoma (IDC) classifier in accordance with our paper "Deep learning for digital pathology image analysis: A comprehensive tutorial with selected use cases". Please note that there has been an update to the overall tutorial pipeline, which is discussed in full here.
